JOHNSON HEALTH TECH REPORTS COMMERCIAL SALES UP 42%; Q1 NET INCOME GROWS BY 18.88%

TAICHUNG, TAIWAN – May 15, 2006 – Johnson Health Tech, Ltd. (TSE 1736), a leading marketer, developer, and manufacturer of branded fitness products, announced results for the first quarter ended March 31, 2006. Sales growth for commercial fitness products during Q1 was 42.8%. Net sales for Q1 all categories were U.S. $75.5 million, compared to 2005 Q1 sales of $65 million, an increase of 16.15%. Net income for Q1 was U.S. $11.88 million, compared to U.S. $10 million, an increase of 18.88%.

Kent Stevens, Matrix Fitness Vice President of Sales stated, “This 42% growth in commercial business shows that Matrix has established itself as a preferred brand worldwide. Proven quality backed by our Customer Advantage Program™, innovative new product releases and recent key additions to our North American sales team will help us to maintain this pace.”

Commercials sales are expected to accelerate with the launch of the H5x Hybrid Cycle Demo program which begins in June. The H5x Hybrid Cycle is the next generation fitness cycle with the step-thru entry and 45° seat adjustment. “Our dealers and club buyers are excited to have an innovative alternative to traditional upright and recumbent cycles,” said Kevin Mast, Product Manager. “The new Hybrid Cycle has been well received in both domestic and international markets; we are now expecting Hybrid sales to exceed our original planned target for 2006.”
